Aboriginal Didgeridoos

About our Aboriginal Hardwood Didgeridoos - The aboriginal artifacts you see on these pages are authentic hand-crafted, handpainted pieces that vary in size and design. Our didgeridoos are termite hollowed and range from 4-5 feet; no two pieces are the same. Each didgeridoo is keyed and prices vary with the length and designs. The designs change every six months. Its distinctive sound can be heard in rock bands, Celtic groups, new age recording, movies and television commercials. Our authentic didgeridoos have the tone and depth, with brilliant resonance for any artist. We also stock bamboo didgeridoos for the novice 3'4" and decorative pieces 16" to 28"

Karijini Mirlimirli The stories collected here - living narratives by and about the Karijini peoples - cover the period from the 1920s to the present day, revealing a seamless continuity between the life before the invaders and the pressing issues of the 1990s. 254pp FPKM25 $19.95

The Last of the Nomads

Warri and Yatungka were believed to be the last of the Majdildjara tribe of desert nomads to live permanently in the traditional way. Their deaths in the late 1970s marked the end of a tribal lifestyle that stretch back more than 30,000 years. This is an intriguing story of the search and rescue of Warri and Yatungka and how they survived alone for the previous thirty years in the unrelenting western Gibson Desert region of Australia. 196pp FPLN19 $16.95

When the Pelican Laughed A spirited and deeply moving story, full of humour and insight, Alice Nannup courageously tells us exactly what it was like to grow up as a black woman in Australia, and through her book she has passed on a precious heritage. There are many unsung heroines in Black Australia and Alice is one of them. 224pp FPPL22 $16.95

Benang From The Heart Harley, a man of Nyongar ancestry, finds himself at a difficult point in the history of his country, family and self. As the apparently successful outcome of his white grandfather's enthusiastic attempts to isolate and breed the 'first whiteman born', he wants to be a failure. But would such failure mean his Nyongar ancestors could label him a success? And how can the attempted genocide represented by his family history be told? 500pp FPBH50 $19.95
